What is the FCAN Summit?

Florida College Access Network (FCAN) is Florida's first collaborative network committed to ensuring all Floridians have the opportunity to achieve an education beyond high school and prosper in Florida's dynamic economy.

FCAN's annual summit is the premier convening for changemakers who are committed to building Florida's future prosperity through access to education.

"FCAN's summit is the only event where professionals from different industries convene around their shared goals for the future of education in Florida." -2018 Summit Attendee

It's about today's students.

More than 50% of college students in Florida are from low- or moderate-income households, and about three-quarters juggle multiple responsibilities, including work, family, and caregiving.

FCAN's summit is laser-focused on the real needs of these students, and is committed to giving students a platform to share their own stories.

Align your brand with a movement.

Supporting the FCAN Summit is an opportunity for your brand to align with the movement that's preparing Florida's students for the jobs of the future.

FCAN's Summit will highlight your brand access to key leaders and education stakeholders from across the state, including professionals in K-12 education, higher education, nonprofits, philanthropy, business, and government.
